profile

Marc Wielage has been a feature mastering colorist in Hollywood for more than three decades. Wielage has worked with such filmmakers as Robert Altman, Kevin Costner, George Lucas, Michael Mann, Robert Rodriguez, and Barbra Streisand on hundreds of major studio and independent films for home video, digital intermediate, and streaming. His eye for color has earned numerous positive reviews from critics, cinematographers, and leading industry websites. He's been part of the remastering and restoration team at Vinegar Syndrome since 2016.
